NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS at PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

Sunday, Sept. 14, 2003 ★ Lincoln Financial Field (68,532) ★ 4:15 p.m.

The Patriots (0-1) head to Philadelphia this week to take on the Philadelphia Eagles (0-1). New England returns to Lincoln Financial Field just 23 days after defeating Philadelphia 24-12 in a preseason matchup in the first football game at the Eagles new home. Despite the teams' recent preseason history, they will face off in the regular season for just the second time in over 12 years.

The Patriots will look to prove that last week's season opening loss in Buffalo was not representative of the kind of football they're capable of playing. After falling behind early to an improved Bills team, the Patriots came up empty despite marching into Buffalo's half of the field on five of their six second-half possessions. This week, New England hopes to close out its drives and find the momentum that proved to be elusive in the season opener.

With 15 games left, the long haul of the NFL season is still just beginning and the Patriots know that seasons are not won or lost in a single game.

"That's not us," said quarterback Tom Brady after the season opener. "We have to be better and we will be better. There's confidence that we're a different team than that."

This week against the Eagles, the Patriots take aim at putting their opening struggles behind them before returning to Gillette Stadium for the home opener against the New York Jets on Sept. 21.

TELEVISION: This week's game will be televised by CBS. The game can be seen locally on WBZ-TV Channel 4 in Boston. Greg Gumbel will handle the play-by-play duties and Phil Simms will provide analysis. Armen Keteyian will provide reports from the sidelines throughout the game. Following the game, the Fifth Quarter postgame show can be seen on WSBK-TV Channel 38 in Boston.

RADIO: WBCN 104.1 FM is the flagship station for the Patriots Rock Radio Network. Play-by-play broadcaster Gil Santos is in his 27th season as the voice of the Patriots, and calls the action along with Patriots Hall of Famer Gino Cappelletti. In 2003, Santos and Cappelletti celebrate their 20th season as a broadcast tandem. A complete listing of WBCN's Patriots Rock Radio Network affiliates can be found on page 7 of this press release.

NATIONAL RADIO: This week's game will be broadcast nationally by Westwood One Radio. Dave Sims and Jack Ham will call the action from Lincoln Financial Field.

PATRIOTS VS. NFC

New England is 7-2 in its last nine games against NFC opposition, dating back to the 2001 season. The seven wins in nine games includes the Patriots' Super Bowl XXXVI win over St. Louis. The Patriots have won three straight games against the NFC and finished 3-1 in their four interconference games in 2002, defeating the Chicago Bears 33-30 (Nov. 10), the Minnesota Vikings 24-17 (Nov. 24) and the Detroit Lions 20-12 (Nov. 28). Their only loss against the NFC was a 28-10 decision against the Green Bay Packers (Oct. 13). The Patriots posted a matching 3-1 record against the NFC in 2001.

A RATING VICTORY

The Patriots lost to the Bills last weekend, but still claimed a viewership victory. In a sports-dominated weekend in Boston, the Patriots claimed the top spot in the weekly television ratings, scoring a 20.0 local rating (46 share). Nationwide, Week One games claimed the top ratings spot against all programming for the week in 28 of the 30 NFL markets.

THIS WEEK: PATRIOTS VS. EAGLES

SERIES HISTORY

The Patriots and Eagles will meet for the ninth time in the regular season and for just the second time since 1991. Philadelphia has won five straight games in the series, with the Patriots' most recent victory coming in 1978. The Eagles are one of only four NFL teams that the Patriots have not defeated since Robert Kraft purchased the team in 1994. The teams have faced off just once over that span, with the Eagles claiming a 24-9 win at Veterans Stadium in 1999.

Despite their lack of recent regular season matchups, New England and Philadelphia have clashed frequently in the preseason, having played six times in the past nine years. The Patriots currently own a five-game preseason winning streak dating back to 1996. The two teams squared off this preseason, with the Patriots taking a 24-12 win in the first football game at Lincoln Financial Field on Aug. 22, 2003.

THE LAST TIME

Philadelphia 24, New England 9 - December 19, 1999

The Patriots fell in Philadelphia by a 24-9 score in Week 15 of the 1999 season in the most recent meeting between the teams. Eagles then-rookie quarterback Donovan McNabb was inactive for the game with a knee injury, but Koy Detmer started in his place and led Philadelphia to the win. The Patriots committed seven turnovers (4 interceptions, 3 fumbles) and the Eagles took advantage of the miscues to win.

Troy Brown caught five passes for 105 yards in recording his second career 100-yard receiving game, and quarterback Drew Bledsoe threw for 331 yards in the losing effort. But Bledsoe also threw four interceptions as the Patriots couldn't quite mount a successful comeback.

The day started out on the wrong foot for the Patriots as Tony Simmons fumbled the opening kickoff and the Eagles converted the turnover into a field goal and a quick 3-0 lead. A turnover hurt the Patriots again late in the first quarter, when a Jeremiah Trotter interception led to a 50-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Torrance Small on the next play. A pair of second-quarter field goals by Adam Vinatieri cut the Eagles' lead to 10-6, and after the Patriots recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff, things looked promising. But the Eagles came up with another interception on the next play and a touchdown one play after that to give them a 17-6 lead going into halftime.

The second half began with promise as another Vinatieri field goal pulled the Patriots closer, but that was as close as they would come. The Eagles scored another touchdown late in the third quarter and two fourth-quarter interceptions sealed New England's fate.

WE'RE BACK

The Patriots will return to Lincoln Financial Field just 23 days after their 24-12 win over the Eagles in the preseason on Aug. 22. In a scheduling rarity, the Patriots will play both the Eagles and the Washington Redskins on the road in both August and September. The last time the Patriots played the same team at the same venue in consecutive months was in August and September of 2000, when the Tampa Bay Buccaneers traveled to Foxborough twice in three weeks.

UNFAMILIAR FOE

The Patriots and Eagles have faced off in the regular season just once since the beginning of the 1991 season. New England played Philadelphia in 1999 in the teams' only meeting in the past 12 seasons. With the new NFL scheduling format that took effect last season, the Patriots and Eagles will now face off once every four years, eliminating the scheduling aberration. This season, the Patriots will get reacquainted with some old foes as they play four teams they have played two times or less since the beginning of the 1991 season.

KRAFT ERA SUCCESS

The Patriots have defeated 28 of the 31 different teams they have played since Robert Kraft purchased the team in 1994. The Eagles are one of just four NFL teams the Patriots have not beaten in the Kraft Era. The list excludes the Houston Texans, whom the Patriots have not yet played. The Patriots have not defeated the Eagles since 1978, but have played them only once since 1994.

PASSING PERFORMANCES

Tom Brady has never faced Philadelphia in the regular season and Donovan McNabb has never lined up against the Patriots. McNabb was injured for the teams' 1999 clash and was replaced by Koy Detmer. The signal callers have started against each other in each of the past two preseasons, with the Patriots winning both games.

2003 PRESEASON

PATRIOTS 24, EAGLES 12

August 22, 2003 ★ Lincoln Financial Field (Att: 66,279)

	1	2	3	4	Final
New England Patriots	10	7	7	0	— 24
Philadelphia Eagles	0	3	0	9	— 12

The Patriots won their third straight game to open the 2003 preseason, defeating Philadelphia 24-12 in the first football game at the Eagles' new Lincoln Financial Field. It was the second straight season the Patriots beat the Eagles in the first game at a new venue, following up a 16-15 win over Philadelphia in the first football game at Gillette Stadium in 2002.

Tom Brady had his most productive outing of the preseason, completing 14 of 24 passes for 148 yards and three touchdowns without an interception in two-and-a-half quarters of work. Brady found David Patten for touchdown completions of 21 and 12 yards as the Patriots built a 17-3 halftime lead. On defense, the Patriots did not allow Philadelphia to score an offensive touchdown, and allowed the Eagles just 51 yards rushing.

As has been the trend this preseason, the Patriots jumped out to a lead in the first quarter. Patriots linebacker Roman Phifer forced Eagles quarterback Donovan McNabb to fumble at the Patriots 25-yard line and the Patriots took possession. New England proceeded to march down the field on a 4-play, 70-yard drive that ended in a 21-yard touchdown from Brady to Patten. Patriots wideout Deion Branch drew a 37-yard pass interference penalty that aided the drive and helped the Patriots claim a 7-0 lead. The Patriots took advantage of another Eagles miscue to score again before the quarter was over. After the Patriots went three-and-out, Philadelphia's Lito Sheppard muffed the punt and New England linebacker Don Davis recovered the football at the Eagles' 14-yard line. The Patriots settled for a 27-yard field goal by Adam Vinatieri to take a 10-0 lead.

The second quarter saw the Eagles chip back with a David Akers field goal that made the score 10-3, but the Patriots responded with a strong drive just before halftime. New England got the ball at its own 26-yard line with 4:31 left and marched to the end zone on a 13-play, 74-yard drive that ended in another touchdown connection between Brady and Patten, this one good for 21 yards and a 17-3 halftime advantage.

As the second half began, the Patriots took firmer command of the game. New England followed up its impressive drive to end the first half with another solid series to open the second half. Brady led the team 61 yards in 12 plays in a touchdown drive that culminated in a 5-yard score from Brady to tight end Daniel Graham, putting the Patriots at a 24-3 advantage.

The Eagles whittled into the Patriots lead in the fourth quarter on a 45-yard field goal by Akers and a 66-yard interception return for a touchdown by Ivory McCoy. But, the Patriots held on for the 24-12 win to improve to 3-0 on the preseason and hand the Eagles their first exhibition loss of 2003.

LAST WEEK: BILLS 31, PATRIOTS 0

BILLS 31, PATRIOTS 0

September 7, 2003 ★ Ralph Wilson Stadium (Att: 73,262)

	1	2	3	4	Final
New England Patriots	0	0	0	0	— 0
Buffalo Bills	7	14	0	10	— 31

The Patriots began the 2003 season on a sour note by suffering a 31-0 loss to the Buffalo Bills in Orchard Park, N.Y. The Bills controlled the ball for 14-and-a-half minutes in the game's first 16:38, allowing them to build a 14-0 lead. The Patriots were never able to dig out of their early hole despite driving into Buffalo territory five times in their six second half drives. The Bills defense consistently came up with big plays that frustrated New England every time it tried to counter-punch.

Buffalo began the contest with a 9-play, 80-yard drive that ended in a 1-yard touchdown plunge by Travis Henry, putting the Bills in front with 5:02 gone in the game. After the Bills defense forced the Patriots to punt, Buffalo put together a lengthy drive, controlling the ball for 9:28 on a 15-play, 90-yard drive. By the time Buffalo took a 14-0 lead on a 7-yard touchdown pass from Drew Bledsoe to tight end Dave Moore, Buffalo had controlled the ball for 14:30, while the Patriots had possession for just 2:08.

The Bills pulled further ahead in the second quarter after the teams exchanged three-and-outs. Defensive tackle Sam Adams intercepted a Tom Brady pass and rumbled 37 yards for a touchdown that put Buffalo in front 21-0 with 19:46 gone in the game.

The Patriots mounted a charge to get on the board on their next possession, but an interception in the end zone snuffed out the drive. Tom Brady threw a deep ball to David Patten in the end zone that bounced off of Lawyer Milloy's shoulder and landed in the hands of the Bills' Nate Clements, who scraped his feet in the end zone as he was falling out of bounds. After the teams exchanged punts, the Bills got the ball back and were looking for another score when Eugene Wilson picked off a Bledsoe pass for his first career interception as the half expired, sending the teams to the locker room with the Bills holding a 21-0 advantage.

In the second half, the Patriots entered Buffalo territory on five of their six possessions, but were stymied on the scoreboard. Willie McGinest recovered a Travis Henry fumble at the Bills' 22-yard line in the third quarter, but the Buffalo defense clamped down on the Patriots and held them scoreless despite a New England first-and-goal on the Bills' 2-yard line. The next two Patriots drives were snuffed out by Buffalo's Takeo Spikes, who came up with a pair of interceptions in Bills territory. Buffalo posted 10 fourth-quarter points to put the game beyond the reach of any potential Patriots comeback, as the Bills took the season opener, 31-0.

THEY SAID IT

HEAD COACH BILL BELICHICK

(On the season-opening defeat)

"Obviously Buffalo played well. They did a good job. They outplayed us in every phase of the game and I have to give them all the credit in the world."

(On rebounding from the loss)

"We're not looking to November or December or anywhere else. We are looking at Monday before the Eagles game, Tuesday before the Eagles game, Wednesday before the Eagles game and Sunday against Philadelphia. That is really what we are looking at right now. It is short term and it is day-by-day."

(On preparing for the Eagles)

"There is no way to wave the magic wand and have things that happen in seven days happen in one day. It just doesn't work that way. It is going to be a process that we will just have to go through hour-by-hour, day-by-day, and perform better in every area of the game in order to win."

SHUTOUT STRING ENDED

The Patriots were shut out in the season opener against the Bills, ending a string of 159 consecutive games in which they had scored (including playoff games). The last time the Patriots had been shut out was on Nov. 28, 1993, when they lost to the New York Jets 6-0 at Foxboro Stadium. The 159-game streak was the second longest in the AFC heading into the 2003 season. Denver currently leads the AFC with a 176-game scoring streak, dating back to 1992 and including playoff games. The Patriots string was good for the fifth longest in the NFL.

Team	Consecutive games without a shutout	Date of last shutout

New England	159*	09/07/03
Indianapolis	157	11/29/93

*-Streak broken 09/07/03

THEY SAID IT

QB TOM BRADY

(On the disappointing season opener)

"There was just nothing good that came out of that game. It's back to the drawing board. It's the first time we've faced adversity in six weeks as a team and we have to rebound. From the opening kickoff to the last play of the game, it was all one-sided. That's not us. We have to be better and we will be better. There's confidence that we're a different team than that."

RUNNING MEN

One bright spot the Patriots could take away from the game against the Bills was in the performance of the Patriots running game. Patriots rushers averaged 5.0 yards per carry, racking up 105 yards on 21 rushes. Last season, the Patriots broke the 100-yard rushing mark just five times as a team. Kevin Faulk led the way against the Bills, chewing up 62 yards on 10 carries (6.2 avg.). Larry Centers averaged 7.2 yards on five carries in his Patriots debut.

SACK ATTACK

Linebacker Roosevelt Colvin recorded his first sack in a Patriots uniform when he brought down Drew Bledsoe for an 8-yard loss in the first quarter. It was the 27th sack of his career. Colvin recorded 10.5 sacks in each of the past two seasons for the Chicago Bears ... Richard Seymour sacked Bledsoe for a 7-yard loss in the third quarter. He has sacked Bledsoe in each of the three games the Patriots have played against their former signal caller.

ROOKIE REPORT

Rookie cornerback Eugene Wilson picked off a Drew Bledsoe pass for his first career interception with 10 seconds left in the first half. Fellow 2003 draftee Asante Samuel tipped the ball to Wilson, who grabbed it to end a potential Buffalo scoring drive just before halftime. The last time a Patriots rookie recorded an interception was on Oct. 8, 2000, when Antwan Harris picked off a Peyton Manning pass and returned it 11 yards.

LAST TIME IT HAPPENED...

The Bills scored a touchdown on their opening drive of the afternoon as Buffalo took a 7-0 lead on a 1-yard run by Travis Henry. It was the first time the Patriots gave up a touchdown on their opponents' opening drive since Oct. 28, 2002 when they played Denver at Gillette Stadium ... Tom Brady tied his career high with four interceptions, marking just the third time in his career he has thrown three or more interceptions.

PATRIOTS NEWS AND NOTES

ADDING EXPERIENCE

Since the end of the 2002 season, the Patriots have added 10 veterans to the roster: nine through free agency and one via trade (Ted Washington). The group includes three players who own a total of nine Pro Bowl nods (Larry Centers, Rodney Harrison and Washington). Five of the veteran additions were in the starting lineup against the Bills in the season opener. In all, the Patriots added 79 seasons worth of experience to their team.
